PROFILE

I am a beginner web developer with a passion for learning and development in the field of programming. Despite the recently made decision to embark on the adventure of creating websites, I quickly absorb new knowledge and am determined to become a competent specialist in this industry.

EXPERIENCE

Individual projects

- GameBlissProject

Online game store website. Fully functional remote database, the ability to create accounts, log in, and place orders.

- BorderApiProject

Bulletin board website. Allows for browsing and searching for announcements. In addition, there is the possibility of user registration and login. A logged-in user is able to add announcements as well as edit or delete them.

Group projects

- FurnitureShopProject

Furniture store website, the whole project focused on learning to work in a six-person team and using the Jira program.

BOOTCAMP KODILLA

Full Stack Web Developer

The course at Kodilla was intense and effective. Through more than 800 hours of intensive learning, with individual mentor support, I quickly gained fundamental IT knowledge. This comprehensive training allowed me to make a solid entry into the dynamic world of technology, preparing me for taking on new professional challenges in the IT sector.
